Jesse "Mexican Assassin" Aquino

After a stellar amateur career which included a 1994 U.S. Championship victory over a tough Russian team, this middleweight slugger brings toe to toe action with his relentless style. Aquino, better known as the "Mexican Assassin," is undefeated as a professional. He brings his 4-0 record in against the tough veteran from Wichita, Kansas, Jerry Magnalina. Aquino is use to tough fights, although he is known for his tremendous body punching, he is still seeking his first professional knock-out. "The only reason I have not scored a knock-out is because I have been fighting as a super-middleweight, that is going to change come the 9th in Des Moines." Aquino is expected to weigh-in tonight at the middleweight limit of 160 lbs. Be ready fight fans for some furious action when the "Assassin" steps into the ring tonight.

Sumya "The Island Girl" Anani

Anani, part American, Caucasin, and Arabic is stunning fight crowds across the nation with her aggressive non-stop style. Her professional record stands at 6-0, 4 KO's and will make a believer out of fans who don't really like professional women's bouts. She currently is the Missouri Lightweight Champion and has been receiving offers to climb in with the World Champions Christy Martin and Lucia Riker. Her promoter, Danny Campbell states "When the Island Girl throws down, look out because something is gonna happen. You will be seeing this young pugilist in the near future on either HBO or Showtime."
